Thank you

People of San Miguel and Mora Counties

You have led by good example. You have given your best so your children would do well in life, and they have! I am also a product of your unconditional love and guidance. I will continue to do my best to be a positive role model and help guide our next generation so they will do even better than our greatest expectations.

I will also continue to promote our local artists. I am especially grateful for the recent artistic creations of Rudy Lovato for his collage entitled “Nuestro Senador” and Antonio M. Dodge (composer) and Mario, Raymond, and Robert Baca (musicians) for sharing their composing and musical talents to produce “El Corrido de Senador Pedro Campos.” I hope their talents will be recognized and future creations and productions continue to bring them the notoriety they deserve.

Rudy Lovato

Rudy Lovato has used his artistic talents to create beautiful and intricate portraits. His use of multi-media disciplines and interesting techniques have earned him the admiration of those who view and own his works of art.

Rudy began his artistic training at Roy High School. After years of practice and many prized portraits on canvass and non-traditional surfaces, Rudy’s works have become treasures to family, friends, and art enthusiasts.

Rudy’s formal education came from New Mexico Highlands University where he majored in art. He is now renowned as an accomplished free-hand artist and capturer of human expression.

Mario, Raymond, and Robert Baca

Mario, Raymond, and Robert Baca are well-known for their musical talents. They have entertained audiences for years by providing the best in Northern New Mexico and other musical favorites.

Their versatility in musical presentation has earned them the reputation of being great Las Vegas entertainers. Although these humble, hardworking, and respected gentlemen are primarily recognized for their musical talents, their day jobs have also earned them admiration among those they serve.
